Commissioner Thompson said that the County building will be open starting June 3rd. He said that they are working on emergency preparation plan to try and follow rules set by the state for reopening the building, they will still be asking the questions regarding health and if anyone has been exposed to the virus. He said that all unvaccinated residents should still be wearing a mask and in the court they will require all employees except the judge to wear a mask. The county is working on contracts and they have finished the contract for the deputies and now are working on the sergeant's contract.

Commissioner Thompson said the county wide clean-up had went well and the wait time for drop offs were relatively short.

The board discussed the cemetery and some of the board members will meet at the cemetery to cut limbs and some trees and decide on what trees will need to be cut by Griff and Sons. After the trees are cut Treasurer Campbell will contact Sharboneau and Sons to work on road.

Clerk Schefferly said that she had received a letter and bill from the attorney handling the Tax case. At the present time the Court of Appeals said that the taxpayer continues to miss dates. The Court has once again given an extension to the Chosen Ranch but it warned that the case is subject to involuntary dismissal in the event the taxpayer's brief is not filed on or before June 15th.

Clerk Schefferly, (who will be retiring in July along with Deputy Clerk Richard Schefferly), received resumes from two applicants for the position. Clerk Schefferly gave copies of the resumes from the two candidates to the board members. She ask the board if they felt they should have them come in to meet them and interview them, but the board decided that they will just make a decision based on the resumes. The board will meet again in two weeks to go over the resumes and make a decision on the new clerk.
